A stile, with a double step on the highway side of the stile, exists in the highway boundary. It crosses the railway line in an easterly direction. After leaving the railroad the path follows a course on the south side of an open ditch and hedge forming the boundary between OS Nos 1733 and 1691. This field, including the course of the footpath is cultivated. A footbridge and guard rails have been provided, at the crossing over Bays River but these are in a poor condition and overgrown. From the crossing of the river the path crosses diagonally OS No 1691a in a north-easterly direction to a point in the boundary between OS Nos 1691a and 1685 approximately 300 yards east of Bays River. The path then passes through an 11' gate and continues

The footpath through OS No. 1814 follows immediately adjacent to fence comprising angle iron stakes and barbed wire erected alongside south west boundary ditch and live hedge. The footpath then enters the Parish of Wreningham but no footbridge over the boundary stream exists; angle iron stakes and barbed wire having been erected at place of crossing over river.
